Data protection notice (Section 67 a Para. 3 of the Tenth Book Social Code– SGB X): In order for us to be able to fulfil our tasks lawfully, your assistance is required according to Section 289 of the Fifth Book Social Code (SGB V) The data are to be collected for the determination of the insurance relationship (Sections 10, 284 SGB V). Voluntary details relating to contact data are exclusively used for queries regarding your insurance relationship and service-related questions. You can revoke these voluntary details at all times.

Your data is secure with us

Everything worth knowing relating to data protection and the new EU General Data Protection Regulation

The protection of your personal data is of special importance to us. The statutory health and long-term care insurance companies work with social data that particularly need protection. In order to be able to fulfil our statutory order we must collect, store and process data.

We exclusively use your data based on the statutory provisions or with the availability of your consent. The bases for this can be found in the European General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), the Social Codes I, V, X and XI (SGB) and the Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG).

In this privacy information we inform you about the most important aspects of the data processing. Within the scope of our order as your health and long-term care insurance company. For reasons of better legibility we waive statutory regulations in the text.

In order to be able to satisfy our statutory order as a health and long-term care insurance company, we must collect social data. Social data are individual details regarding personal or factual circumstances of a certain or definable natural person, which are collected, processed or used by us.

We ensure hereby that social data are not collected, processed or used without authorisation.

The safeguarding of the social secrecy comprises the obligation also within our company to ensure that the social data are only made accessible to authorised persons or only forwards to said persons.

Social data are principally exclusively processed, stored and used within our house.

However, in order to fulfil our tasks, we require external service providers (computer centres for the data processing, settlement centres for doctor's, therapeutically or nursing services and cooperation partners in order to improve the range of services). Regulations are agreed in the contracts with service providers for data protection, which comply with the statutory stipulations. We check the compliance with all regulations and data protection law at regular intervals.

Social data can be transmitted to us both regarding the relevant persons (insured) as well as regarding non-affected persons (doctor, hospital, medical supplies store among others). Social data must be transmitted for the fulfilment of the statutory tasks of a health and long-term care insurance company, they may only be used for the purposes envisaged by law. There is insofar in many cases an obligation to make social data available. This can e.g. be the establishment of a membership or insurance relationships, the issue of the health card, the determination of the contribution obligation, the provision of services, the determination of burden limits, the settlement and monitoring of the cost-effectiveness of service providers and further items.

The details relating to personal data, for example telephone number or e-mail, are voluntary and will only be stored with your consent. These data can among others be of benefit for a fast provision of services and a fast communication for you. You have the right at all times to revoke your consent to the storage and to request the deletion of your personal data, which are not social data. A simple, informal declaration is sufficient for this purpose.

In some areas consents are necessary on your part. We will inform you in any case about the purpose and the reasons for the necessary consent. Your consent is bound to the one, stated purpose and shall also only apply one time. The provisions of a service is not dependent on your consent.

In line with the statutory stipulations social data will be deleted after expiry of the storage deadline stipulated by law.

Other data will be deleted without delay after the fulfilment of the purpose.

If you are of the opinion that you with the collection, processing or use of your personal data or social data your rights have been infringed, you have the possibility to contact the data protection officer of our BKK, alternatively the responsible supervisory authority (Federal Insurance Office) or to contact the federal officer for data protection and freedom of information. You further have the right to information, rectification, deletion or limitation of the processing as well as a right of objection against the processing. Attention is to be paid hereby that this may be opposed by statutory storage deadlines and the necessity of data collections, storages and uses, in particular if your right to deletion or limitation of the processing renders the proper fulfilment of the statutory order of the health or long-term care insurance companies impossible. You additionally have the possibility to have your personal data transmitted.

The responsible party within the meaning of the GDPR is Ernst & Young BKK, represented by the Management Board member Ms Iris Weinrich.

In case of questions relating to data protection you can contact our data protection officer, Ms Sabine Schneider (Tel.: +49 (0)5661 7076721; sabine.schneider@ey-bkk.de).

Please pay attention to further information relating to data protection on our homepage www.ey-bkk.de

Insured, who do not have any access to the internet, please contact us. We will be pleased to make the information available to you in a paper form.
